Judy Edelmann: Beth Israel, Drop-In Centre, and Other Memories

June, 2021

Well, I don't know if I have a connection to but I really miss our old Beth Israel synagogue I felt it was cozier and this is a beautiful synagogue and I like it but I miss the old Edmonton I guess I am old-fashioned and then I also miss the Drop-In Centre the way it used to be you know it still is running but it's not quite the same not the same people running it now of course they are all gone now but it used to be really a place for older people to go at that time I was too young to appreciate it other Jewish places I don't know but I do miss many of the old stores like Woodward's and Joseph Walker which was way before your time you wouldn't know about it what do I miss there are so many things you know that you can't even think of I tried to memorize it but I try to remember what I miss but it was very personal you know what we miss to go to the Italian ice cream place on 95th Street on 95th Street I used to take my children to a little Italian place also some of the restaurants I can't think of anything much
